

I can only hope that the FCC will not change the law from what it currently is. I cannot tell you how many times I would have to jump up to get the phone only to discover it was another telemarketer. I'll bet we recieved at least 4or 5 calls per day and even on sunday, and that is what angered me the most. Our house is not small and I'd just start something and the phone would ring - I'd think it was my husband, kids or parents - and it would just be someone trying to sell me something I don't want or need. I know in one days time I recieved at least 3 phone calls to switch my phone service. It made me want to rip the phone off the wall. I tried to be polite, but after awhile it just got nuts. Thank you for bringing sanity back to our house. Elaine Egging
